Acts 3:1-10, Psalm 104, Luke 24:13-35

Their eyes were opened and they recognized Luke 24.31

The risen Jesus is present wherever two or more are gathered for his love. The gift is to recognize that he is one who loves him living his word. I want to obey to you, Jesus, in faith, I know that you will open your eyes so that I can recognize where you are.

At 3.11 to 26; Ps 8, Luke 24.35-48

Look at my hands and my feet: that's me Lk 24.39

Watching and adoring the wounds of the Passion of Jesus, we receive from him a more lively faith, like Thomas. Our eyes are healed from blindness and we can enjoy more and more the reality of his presence, to exclaim with wonder and joy, as the apostle: "My Lord and my God!"

Jesus, risen and alive, is interested in how the lives of his disciples is nourished and tells them: "You have nothing to eat?" It also calls for their collaboration: "Bring some 'of the fish you just caught,'" therefore invites: "Come and eat!"

Jesus, you are the true bread given by the Father for the life of all those who expect their support from you!

6/4 SAB EASTER [P]

At 4.13-21, Ps 117, 16.9 to 15 Mc

Afterwards, however, that the risen Jesus has opened the hearts and minds, touching them with his Spirit, then things have changed! We have received the "Good News" and receive strength to live it.

Thank you, Jesus, the mercy that you had with Thomas. Through the mercy that you have with me in waiting for me to grow in your love. Thank you that you are ready to meet every Sunday.

What is life eternal? Believing in the Risen Jesus, trusting him and his word. This gives meaning and fullness of life to every action and allows us to experience that communion with God. It is a mystery that Jesus reveals

04 April 2013

To the disciples it was dark, both for now and the situation of incomprehension and incredulity toward inner Seeing Jesus walking on the approaching storm at sea was like being in front of a work of God, to God himself: "they were afraid".
